Bank Bandit Sentenced To Ionia

From 18 months to seven years in Ionia prison is the sentence meted out to Lloyd Lanning, 21 year old Flint man, who attempted to hold up Grayling State Savings Bank May 7th. Lanning was apprehended on the same day of his act since when he has been imprisoned in the county jail.

Judge Guy E. Smith held a special session of Circuit court here Monday purposely to arraign Lanning, at which time the latter entered a plea of guilty.

At the closing minute of the bank on the afternoon of May 7th, Lanning crowded his way into the bank and after he got in it appears that he didn't like the looks of the situation and got out in a hurry.

After leaving the bank he boarded a south-bound Michigan Central freight but when the train reached Roscommon he found Deputy Frank May and Assistant Cashier Geo. Schroeder awaited him. He gave up without resistance when he saw that he was caught. He claimed that he had recently been married and was out of work and was unable to support his wife and himself and therefore made this unsuccessful attempt at banditry. He was armed with an automatic revolver.

Lanning was represented in court by Attorney Frank Stipes of Flint. He was taken to Ionia Tuesday by Frank May who was accompanied by his wife.

WINTER'S QUEEN A BRIDE

Cora Lewis Married At Gaylord

Gaylord, June 22.—Of primary interest wherever winter sports enthusiasts gather was Saturday's marriage to Miss Cora Geraldine Lewis, and Ammon Earl Schreur at the bride's parents' home in Gaylord.

Miss Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sim J. Lewis, is well remembered as the charming queen of Grayling's winter carnival this year, and Mr. Schreur, Otsego county road commissioner and maintenance superintendent, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dirk Schreur, of Gaylord. The bride studied at Alma college and graduated from Central State Teachers' college in 1934, later teaching in Grayling schools for two years. Mr. Schreur graduated from Michigan State college in East Lansing as a civil engineer in 1932.

Charming in a white lace bridal gown with long sleeves, high cowl neckline, and slight train, the bride wore a fitted cap veil of waist length and carried a bouquet of Johanna Hill roses, sweet peas, and baby breath. She was attended by Mr. Schreur's sister, Miss Jane Schreur, who wore a sheer pink organza gown, complemented with blue, and a corsage of sweet peas and lilies-of-the-valley. Mr. Schreur was attended by the bride's brother, Cyril Lewis.

Mrs. Schreur wore a chamois triple sheer chiffon travelling frock with jacket and navy blue hat and accessories, when the couple left on a short wedding trip. On their return they will make their home on North Center street.—Bay City Daily Times.

The Avalanche joins with the bride's many Grayling friends in extending congratulations and best wishes.

New Elevated Tank Is Now Completed

LOOKS LIKE A GOOD JOB

The new elevated waterworks tank is finished and it looks like a fine job. Few, except those who watched the progress of construction, know the task and skill that such a job requires. Daring, expert workers were employed on the work. To erect those massive frames with their thousands of rivets, and likewise the tank and its fittings tested the engineering ability of the erection crews. As the men climbed and walked about the framework as it was being assembled it made one shudder with apprehension for their safety.

Mr. L. P. Kuffel, superintendent on the job, stated that there were only about 500 men engaged in this class of work in this country. However by the skill and daring of his men the job was completed without an accident.

The tank stands 100 feet from the base to the lower end of the tank, and has a capacity of 100,000 gallons. It was finished Tuesday and now is an imposing sight for miles around. It is nicely painted black and on two sides in large white letters are the name of the city—Grayling.

The contract for the materials and construction was carried out by the Chicago Bridge and Iron Works, Chicago.

The Annual School Meeting

Notice is hereby given that the annual school meeting of school district number one (1) of Grayling Township will be held in the assembly room of the High School on Monday, July 8th, at 8:00 o'clock P. M., eastern standard time, for the purpose of electing school officers and the transaction of such other business as may properly be brought before an Annual School Meeting.

Dated at Grayling, Michigan, June 24th, 1935.

R. O. Milnes, Director.

Stew in Own Shade
There are few spots on earth where trees, and people and things like that have to stew in their own shade. But Tahiti is one of them when the noon hour rolls around. The sun is exactly at its zenith, and shadows fall so perpendicularly that the outline of each coconut palm is traced evenly around the base of its own trunk.—Detroit News.

Legion Jottings

Sunday the Drum & Bugle Corps went to Mio to participate in the Bass Festival held at that place. The Corps marched to the river where the program was being carried out, then played during the program at the river, near the power dam, then marched back to the courthouse and played several pieces. We had a good time at Mio and the people made the remark that things seemed dead until we arrived. Well we are glad we are appreciated.

Monday evening our Corps marched and played out Michigan Avenue to the Tourist Park and held our practice there and then played all the way back to our hall.

Tuesday and Wednesday evenings the boys erected their Bowery Dance Hall which will be in operation during the homecoming. Work will be started at once on our beer concession at the Park.

Next Sunday afternoon we have been invited to go to Gaylord for their Bass Festival.

The parade will start at 2:30. All members of the Corps be on hand at 12:30 at the Hall so we may leave at 1 o'clock sharp.

Tonight (Thursday) all committees on the Homecoming are requested to be present at the Legion Hall for a meeting to form final plans and arrangements for the homecoming.

We have received our advertising for the Big Polite & Berger Exposition shows and Wild Animal circus to be held here for the 4 days and nights of the homecoming. Our citizens will notice the display in windows in our city.

We have been invited to play for the 4th of July celebration at Charlevoix and we may accept the invitation.

Four Campaigners Still In Race

CLOSE FINISH EXPECTED IN COMPETITION FOR BIG PRIZE

The lead in the Crawford Avalanche's big "Weekly Payroll" subscription campaign changed hands four times last Saturday, the last day reports were made directly to the campaign manager.

That one sentence tells, as well as could several columns, how close a finish may be expected this Saturday evening, when the official judges open the ballot box at the Grayling State Savings Bank, count the subscriptions and announce the winners of the various awards.

Arrangements for the closing of the campaign were announced in the paper a week ago. According to the campaign rules, positively no subscriptions will be accepted after the race has been declared closed by the judges at 9 p. m. The ballot box will be taken to the director's room in the bank, where a careful tabulation of the work done by each campaigner will be made and the final total votes of each one computed.

The worker having the greatest total of votes will be given a choice of a new Chevrolet standard coach, a vacation trip by sea to California and return, or $490 in cash, with the provision that all weekly commissions received by the worker during the campaign must be returned.

The next highest worker will be given a choice of a $117 Shelvador refrigerator, a vacation trip to Washington, D. C., or $90 in cash, with the same provision for return of commissions paid as in the case of first prize.

The third prize winner will keep all commissions earned during the campaign, including those due for the final week's work, and will receive a cash bonus of half the amount earned in commissions.

Fourth prize winner will keep all commissions earned and will get a bonus of a third of the amount earned in commissions.

Here is the way subscriptions will count this week:

One year	1,500
Two years	4,000
Five years	15,000

These credits will be doubled on subscriptions outside the city limits. Workers will receive 50,000 "club" credits for every twenty dollars in cash turned in, including any "club balance" left at the end of last week's work.

"Weekly Bonus Credits" will be allowed on the final week's cash total as follows:

$ 25 or more	50,000
$ 50 or more	125,000
$ 75 or more	200,000
$100 or more	300,000
$150 or more	500,000

No report bonuses will be allowed the final week, and no "subscription extension" credits.

Subscriptions are selling fast and furiously this week, according to reports trickling into the office, and every indication is that the business done this week will be the biggest of the entire campaign. It is absolutely impossible to predict at this moment just who will win Saturday night, in view of the closeness of the standings last Saturday night and the energetic efforts of all four of the active campaigners the past few days. The finish promises to be mighty interesting.

Each of the campaigners is trying to get as many of his friends as possible to sign up for five year subscriptions this week, as it is these big subscriptions, counting ten times as much in votes as the one year ones, which will probably decide the winner. And subscribers, too, are showing an unexpected eagerness to buy these long-term orders, taking advantage of the special campaign reduction of 25 cents a year in the price, a reduction which will end Saturday night.

And now just a final personal word from the campaign manager: It has been a real pleasure to work with the energetic Grayling campaigners, and with the Avalanche publisher and employees; and it is with the deepest regret that Mrs. Smith and myself prepare to leave this fine community at the end of the campaign.

We wish to commend the campaigners particularly for the spirit of sportsmanship they have shown throughout the drive. In fact, our one regret is that we cannot give automobiles to all four of the workers, but to do so, of course, would eliminate competition and make a campaign of this kind impossible.

From now until the judges announce the winner, the campaign is out of our hands. The final outcome depends entirely on the efforts of the individual campaigners, and on the computations of the official judges.

We can reserve for ourselves but one final wish:

"May the best worker win!"

MISS VELLA HERMANN AND CHARLES HILL MARRIED

Of interest to their Grayling friends will be the news of the marriage of Miss Vella Hermann of Lansing and Mr. Charles N. Hill of Kingston. The marriage took place at the home of Rev. J. Wilfred Greenwood who performed the double ring ceremony by candlelight before the fireplace. Mrs. Greenwood and her father, Mr. Anderson witnessed the ceremony, and the bride chose a gown of poudre blue with which she wore navy accessories.

Growing to womanhood in Grayling the bride was a graduate of Grayling High school, and later having secured a life certificate at Michigan State Normal college, Ypsilanti, taught in Grayling schools. The groom is also well known to Grayling people having been a popular teacher in the high school here. Both have hosts of friends among pupils and others here, who extend congratulations and best wishes. Mr. and Mrs. Hill will make their home in Ypsilanti where the former has a position as teacher of English and Speech in the Central High school.

YOU GET A RUN FOR YOUR MONEY (a long, fast one!)

Because of the extra Live Power—real working power—now at your command in Standard Red Crown you get long, low-cost mileage. But economy isn't the only big feature of this 1935 gasoline. The increased power output has a twofold purpose: (1) to restore, in older motors, a major share of their former speed, keenness and vigor; (2) to give new car owners the full performance capacity of the 1935 motors. And Standard Red Crown, of course, also has an abundance of Tetraethyl Lead, the finest anti-knock agent—yet it still sells for the price of "regular." From any angle, it is the best buy in gasoline today. Stop for a tankful where you see the familiar sign of... STANDARD OIL SERVICE.

Mother's Cook Book

NOW that chill winds blow and children's parties must be given, especially on birthdays, a candy pull will be a delightful thing to give if there is enough room for the children to move about and enjoy it. Here is one of the good candies that may be pulled:

Velvet Molasses Candy.
Put one cupful of molasses, three cupfuls of sugar, one cupful of boiling water and three tablespoons of vinegar in a saucepan over the heat. As soon as the boiling point is reached, add one-half teaspoonful of cream of tartar. Boil until when tried in cold water the mixture will become brittle. Stir constantly during the last of the cooking. When nearly done, add one-half cupful of melted butter and one-fourth teaspoonful of soda. Pour out, and when cold, pull. Flavor to taste.

Party Cheese Salad.
Take two packages of cream cheese, roll into small balls, making twelve. Toast—or tint any color desired. Arrange in nests of lettuce and serve with mayonnaise dressing.

Apple Sauce Pudding.
Season one cupful of apple sauce with cinnamon or nutmeg. Divide it among six dessert glasses. Prepare a junket tablet with a pint of lukewarm milk, three tablespoons of sugar (dissolve the tablet in a table spoonful of water), flavoring the junket mixture with a few drops of almond. Pour over the apple sauce, and let stand to become firm in warm room. Chill and serve.

Buttercup.
Those of us who have crunched the creamy buttercup will never forget their deliciousness. Shall we make a few at home?
Roll two cupfuls of molasses with one cupful of sugar and one-half cupful of boiling water, two table spoonfuls of butter, one-third of a teaspoonful of cream of tartar, not stirring until the last few minutes of the cooking. When a firm ball is made when a drop is placed in cold water pour out, cool and pull. Make a long roll of fondant, cover with buttercup mixture, pull in a long strip and cut into small pieces with shears.

World's Oldest Incubators
The world's oldest incubators have been in use in Egypt for more than 3,000 years, writes J. H. Bowser, Belukwe, Southern Rhodesia, Africa, in Collier's Weekly. They are large brick structures, each containing numerous hatching ovens, egg-storage rooms, fuel bins and even an apartment for the operator as he—like those before him—believes that he should live within it so that he can constantly "feel" and regulate the temperature.

MICHIGAN THE BEAUTIFUL

For the sake of advertising revenues to be had we note that a number of metropolitan newspapers at this season of the year are advising their readers to spend their vacation period almost anywhere else except in Michigan. From a commercial standpoint their course is hardly subject to criticism, but we doubt if more than a mere handful of those who peruse this subtle propaganda will allow themselves to be deceived. Michigan in summer time is the garden spot of the universe, and there has never been a time when it was prettier than right now. Generous rainfalls has clothed hill and dale with luxuriant verdure, besides filling lakes and streams with the clearest, purest water that ever flowed down a hillside. Anywhere the road runs is a panorama difficult of adequate description. Plan now for a vacation and above all plan to spend it right here in Michigan. In that you will be making no mistake.—Fred D. Keister, in Michigan Men and Affairs.

SAM

By ANNE CAMPBELL

SAM is an officer walking our beat. No one could live on a quieter street.

If there were a riot, our Sammy would quiet it. The riot, and never disturb our repose.

Each child in our street when he goes to sleep, knows He's under a special policeman's good care! Sammy is there!

And, many a child on our street when he prays Says: "Please God, bless Sam, 'cause he has to sleep days!" While children are sleeping, his watch he is keeping, And sleeping is better because we have Sam.

The children sleep on if they hear a door slam. He takes all the grief that they might have to bear! Sammy is there!

Sometimes the dear children drift off into dreams, And thinking of God, and of Sam, it seems That some one who's thinking of others, unthinking, And thinking not once of himself, is so fine.

He must have a lot in his heart that's divine. So the children sleep tight, and the whole night is fair! Sammy is there!

Camp News

Camp Higgins

Camp Higgins Lake has been allotted 58 recruits to return the company to its normal strength. Because of numerous recent discharges, it is possible that this number might be slightly increased.

Chaplain L. J. Paquette was ordered to report to Camp Custer the latter part of last week, being relieved of his duties in the fourth forestry sub-district. From Camp Custer he will go to Sparta, Wisconsin, for assignment to CCC duty from that point.

Lieut. G. C. Gill, who recently was assigned to duty with this company, is acting as auditor for funds of the several camps in the fourth sub-district.

Black lettering on an orange background is being used in repainting various signs about the camp area.

George Wolf, MECW foreman here, is the second member of the supervisory staff who must take a 28 day furlough, which he started last week. Dale Rigney, the first here to feel the economy axe, returned to his duties Saturday at the expiration of his 28 day layoff.

New crews on stream improvement work and ground water survey started work projects last week.

Lieut. D. W. Nielson is building a dummy cannon for the camp. The gun will be about nine feet long, and by using an old shotgun will be capable of shooting blanks.

Camp officials of the 4th forestry sub-district held a dinner dance party at Cadillac Tuesday night, June 25th, at the Country Club. Camp Higgins Lake was well represented for the occasion.

During the latter part of last week the old fire bell was taken down and replaced with a new alarm made of a large circular saw. A hammer is chained to the post supporting the saw with which to spread alarms.

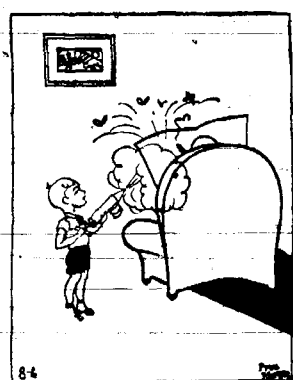

Three enrollees are shortly to be discharged for completion of an 18 months enrollment, the longest permitted for those who are not key men in the company. They are Wilber Claypoole from Alden, Kenneth Rowell from Kalkaska, and George Way from Rapid City. All three were enrolled here January 10, 1934.

Capt. G. E. Murphy recently conceived the idea of a portable fire fighting machine and last week Ford Robinson, supply man, rigged one up. A piece of gas pipe about 30 inches long is connected with a hand force pump which is mounted on a small platform to fit over the top of the fire barrels. A short length of hose connected on the pump directs the stream of water at the fire. Bucket brigades could keep the barrel filled if necessary. The advantage of the machine is that it is light and can quickly be put in action at the site of any fire barrel in the camp.

It is proposed to start a new class in etiquette at this camp in the near future.

Reindeer at Last Reach End of Five-Year Trek

WHAT can happen in this great world in a period of five years? Among the great achievements we can list that of Andrew Bahr of Seattle. Five years ago he took an assignment to drive 3,000 reindeer across the Great Arctic circle. Bahr, although not a young man, took this great task at the instance of the king of England, through a commercial trading company, who believed it a good idea to provide meat for the Mackenzie district of Canada, where there was a scarcity of food. In 1929 a herd of 3,000 reindeer was turned over to this herder and for five years he has plodded 1,200 miles across the Arctic circle and has at last reached his goal. Camping for months waiting for a river to freeze over, weathering Arctic blizzards, camping for the breeding season and a thousand other obstacles have befriended this great hero, but he has delivered, not only his original herd, but increase for the five years of over 10 per cent and incidentally there were two children born on the stormy passage, and are husky individuals. The Andrew Bahr feat will go down in history as one of the great feats of man.

The annual Gaylord Outdoor festival will be held in that city next Friday, Saturday and Sunday. A big feature of the event will be the "Parade of the great outdoors" that will take place Sunday.

The death by auto accident that befell M. R. Keyworth, newly elected state superintendent of public instruction, removes from Michigan one of the highest types of educators this state has ever had. About 20 years ago he was superintendent of the Gaylord schools and later of the Hastings schools and for several years was superintendent of the schools at Hamtramck. The funeral was held at Gaylord yesterday afternoon with interment there.

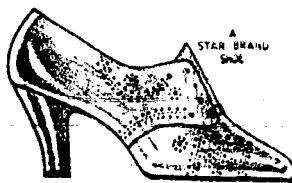

Mr. and Mrs. Peter McNeven entertained a number of guests last week at Lake Margrethe. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Smith of Pullman, Wash., former friends and schoolmates of Mrs. McNeven in Petoskey. Mr. Smith is professor of Agricultural engineering in Washington State college located in Pullman, and they had been at Cleveland witnessing the graduation of their son from Western Reserve University. After a tour through Michigan they will be returning west. Other guests were Mrs. McNeven's sister, Mrs. P. D. Miller and son Ralph of Petoskey, who were here Thursday and Friday.

Mrs. Matilda Bishop of Cleveland, who spent a few days here with her mother Mrs. Elizabeth Foley, left last week for Thos. and Island Park, New York, sent by the school board of Shaker Heights, Cleveland, to attend the Economic conference of eastern colleges. Mrs. Bishop was recently made head of the Economics department of the Shaker Heights High school and will have charge of the experimental groups in social science next year. Shaker Heights is one of 19 schools in the United States to cooperate with eastern colleges in an 8-year program whereby students following a research type of work will be admitted to Harvard, Smith and like colleges without taking college board examinations. Since these students participating are carefully chosen for scholarship and dependability, much of their time can be spent outside the actual classroom, on field trips in special libraries, through state institutions and in conference with leaders in any given subject with the state. The wealth of information gained in this fashion they feel should provide a serious student with a distinct education.

CHANGES URGED IN BANKING ACT

Business Men and Bankers Agree in Objecting to Political Control Over Banks

AMENDMENTS SUGGESTED

Political Domination of Federal Reserve Board Declared to Be Undesirable for Depositors as Well as Their Banks.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Business men and bankers alike who have appeared before committees of Congress to present views regarding the Banking Act of 1935 have found common cause for criticism in those provisions which they agree would create the means for undesirable political control over the Federal Reserve System and thereby over individual banks throughout the United States. They have made the point that this undesirable condition would affect depositors in banks even more than the banks themselves.

This view has been stressed in criticisms by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, and the question of partisan control over banking was the central theme of a statement presented by R. S. Hecht, President of the American Bankers Association, who appeared before the Senate Sub-Committee on Banking and Currency hearings here. Mr. Hecht declared that his organization is actuated by a desire to be helpful to Congress "in enacting effective and workable banking legislation in the interest of all our people." He said in part:

"If it is finally decided that it is necessary to carry this legislation through at this session, we are strongly of the opinion that special care should be taken to keep our credit control and banking mechanism free from any sort of political considerations.

"In making this statement I do not wish to appear to question the propriety of the Government's exerting a certain amount of control over banking operations so far as they affect the nation's currency and general monetary policy. Nor do we object to broad powers of supervision over the operation of our banking institutions because of the semi-public responsibilities they carry. But when it comes to such matters as the granting of credit and the making of investments by our banks, these are questions of business policy that surely should not be under the sole control of a board so constituted as to be dependent upon partisan or political considerations under any administration.

The Basis of Sound Credit

"The real conditions that create the necessity for the expansion or contraction of credit arise from the needs of agriculture, industry and trade themselves, wholly independent of the administrative policies of the party which happens to be in power. We feel that the financial requirements of the nation's business constitute a continuing economic process that is not related to political changes. The fundamental principles of sound credit do not vary with variations in public thought. All experience teaches that the quality of credit is sound only so long as it is based purely on the requirements of sound business. It is not sound when any other considerations or motives enter into its composition.

"The Banking Act would centralize in the Federal Reserve Board at Washington means aimed to control the supply of money in the country, which term includes the sum total of currency in circulation and demand deposits in the banks which become current through checks. The powers which it is proposed to give the Board are intended to enable it to influence the quantity of this deposit money through open market operations, the discount rate and reserve requirements.

"The Need for Independence
"That is the reason why we are so strongly in favor of making the Federal Reserve Board a body of such independence and prestige that it would be definitely removed from all political thought, influence and dictation. Its members should be free to study and to act in accordance with the needs and conditions of agriculture, industry and trade. The policies of the board should have no reference to the politics or the changes in politics of the national administration.

"In our studies of the bank bill, we have been strongly impressed with the fact that it would set up a situation under which the Federal Reserve Board and its policies might be subject to control from the political administration of the country. In saying this I do not charge that it is the intention of the present administration to bring about any undue control over the nation's banking mechanism. The point is that if the bill passed as now proposed, opportunity for control would be there for the use of the present or whatever future administration might be in power.

"Our criticisms of the bill are not aimed, therefore, at the motives of the present administration, but they are wholly impersonal and non-political and are aimed, entirely at the basic principles involved."

Desirable Changes Proposed

Careful study by his organization, Mr. Hecht said, had resulted in a number of suggestions for constructive revisions in the bill which he submitted to Congress. On the other hand, he declared that many of the changes proposed by the act in existing laws "are of a constructive nature and should have the support of bankers, if the method of appointment and tenure of office of the members of the Federal Reserve Board, in whose hands it is planned to concentrate greater power than ever before, could be so altered as to insure, as far as possible, the absolute independence of the Board from partisan or political considerations." He added.

Supreme Court of Banking

"Since the passage of the Federal Reserve Act over 20 years ago, opinion in Congress and among bankers has been striving towards the ideal of making the Federal Reserve Board a body of such independence and prestige that it might be described as the Supreme Court of Finance and Banking. We believe there is greater need now than ever before for realizing this ideal."

Mr. Hecht emphasized that it is "the genuine desire of the banking fraternity to be helpful and constructive in making suggestions in connection with this pending legislation. The changes we are urging are we believe essential to the continued independence of the Federal Reserve System."

"We have made it clear that we do not object to a measure of public control in the national interest for proper coordination of our manifold credit operations," he said, "and we do not believe the sponsors of the legislation desire any political domination over these activities through our Federal Reserve System."

"Under such circumstances we feel that our recommendations should be favorably acted upon because they would enable the reconstructed Federal Reserve Board to function freely as a nonpolitical body actuated only by the dictates of sound financial and economic policies conceived in the interest of all of our people."

"The adoption of our suggestions would both place operation of the Federal Reserve System wholly and distinctly apart from the fluctuations and vicissitudes of political conditions and free from undue influence by banking opinion only. Such a solution would thus have a stabilizing and confidence inspiring effect on the entire business situation."

Banks Rapidly Reduce Debt

Although the sum of $1,860,000,000 has been advanced to banks and trust companies by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation since it began operations in February, 1932, down to April 30, 1935, these institutions have repaid no less than $1,340,000,000, or more than 72%. This rate of repayment is reported as being considerably in excess of that made by any other type of borrower.

Loans were authorized by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to 7,396 banks and trust companies in an aggregate amount of $2,350,000,000, but of this sum $345,000,000 was withdrawn or cancelled and $140,000,000 has not yet been taken out by the borrowers.

Simplification of Bank Checks

New York.—In a bulletin issued by the Bank Management Commission of the American Bankers Association, plans are described for carrying on the simplification of bank checks, notes, drafts and similar instruments in respect to size and uniformity of arrangement of subject matter.

Detailed recommendations for this and were formulated by the association about ten years ago, the bulletin says, and promulgated by the United States Department of Commerce among banks, business houses using large numbers of checks, commercial stationers and lithographers. As a result about 85 per cent adherence to the recommendations was brought about. The present bulletin, which describes the standard specifications in full, is issued to maintain this high level of adherence to the recommendations.

DEPT. OF STATE STATE NEWS BULLETIN

No Summer Let-Down At State Capitol

While summer is frequently regarded as a season of relative light business activity because of the prevalence of the vacation habit, departments of state government are, almost without exception, preparing for their customary activity attendant upon compilation of reports for the fiscal year which ends June 30.

The Department of State's mailing volume will shortly enter one of its two peak periods of each year. Added to the increase of activity necessitated by fiscal year reports, the volume of work necessary to handle reports from managers of branch offices of the secretary of state is still at high tide, due to the favorable automobile sales business still being recorded throughout the state. Daily reports from each of the 132 branch offices, as to license plates and half-year license permits sold, are received for compilation.

With the expiration of the half-year permits on July 31, many added thousands of individual reports will be flowing through the bookkeeping records of the department as drivers buy their 1935 license plates.

The corporation division of the Department of State will shortly place in the mails some 22,000 forms on which annual corporation reports are to be made. These reports, together with corporation fees, are due and collectible by August 31. Of the approximately 22,000 corporations in the state obligated to file annual reports, more than 16,000 are classified as "profit" corporations, the balance as "non-profit" corporations. Both classes are required to make annual reports, however.

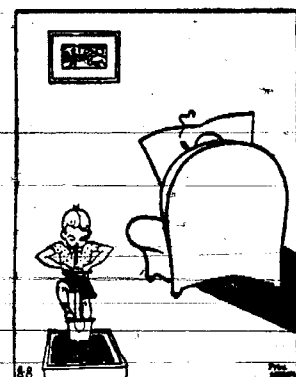

Immediate Effect Acts Soon Ready

Lawyers, public officials, and others professionally interested in having available the texts of the acts of the legislature which were given immediate effect and signed by the governor, thus making them public acts, will have this information available by July 15. Pamphlets containing the full texts will be mailed to local and court officials, on application to the Department of State. Later, of course, in conformity with law, these acts will be contained in the publication of the Public Acts of the regular 1935 session, which will include all new acts, whether given immediate effect by the legislature or not.

ITS OPEN SEASON

This is the open season for peddlers whose high pressure salesmanship frequently induces the housewife to part with good money for poor merchandise. Some of them are honest, but many of them are selling bogus wares the true value of which is not discovered until after the departure of the peddler. The safest way is to turn down all strangers and buy of your merchant on whose reliability you can depend.—Harold D. Spicer in the Paw Paw Courier-Northern.

Question Box By ED WYNN The Perfect Fool

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I have often heard that the worst blow one can receive is the kick of a mule. Do you think a mule can kick harder than a kangaroo?

Yours truly,

ANN TIPODES.
Answer: I have never been kicked by a kangaroo, but once a mule succeeded in kicking me, and for the following six months every time I sat down I left "foot-prints."

Dear Mr. Wynn:

A friend of mine has just returned from a trip through the South American tropics and he said that sometimes, while walking along, he would sink 10 and 12 inches in the ground. What struck me rather peculiar was his assertion that farmers lived there and cattle grazed all around. How could cattle exist in mud like that?

Yours truly,

E. QUATER.
Answer: Your friend is right. I have been where he speaks of and I have seen the mud so deep down there that the farmers had to jack the cows up to milk them.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

In the past ten days I have read in the newspapers of thirty-four men committing crimes. I discovered, by keeping tabs on them, that twenty-eight of the thirty-four men ran away to Canada. How do you account for that?

Yours truly,

C. KLUSIVE.
Answer: I am surprised, as I thought everybody knew that it was the only place "Toronto."

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I have an uncle who is so stingy every time he sends his pajamas to the laundry he sneaks a pair of socks in the pocket. Did you ever hear of anyone as stingy as that?

Yours truly,

MOE BEEL.
Answer: The stingiest man I ever heard of was a man who starved to death in a "pay-as-you-leave" trolley car.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

Don't you think a man will succeed later in life if he goes by the following rule: "Live and let live?"

Truly yours,

HAMMOND EGGS.
Answer: That's a great rule for every one except the butcher.

"Little Stories for Bedtime" by Thornton W. Burgess

AN UNEXPECTED DANGER

DANNY MEADOW MOUSE, swimming across the Smiling Pool to escape from Reddy Fox, was worried enough as he thought of how helpless he would be should Billy Mink or Snapper, the big Snapping Turtle, discover him before he reached the other bank. But Danny would have been still more worried had he known of a certain big Pickerel, which you know is a kind of fish, who was making his home in the Smiling Pool.

Now the Big Pickerel lived very largely on the minnows and other little fish of the Smiling Pool, but he was always ready for anything.

Just as Danny Scrambled Out On the Bank, Those Great Jaws Closed With a Wicked Snap.

size that might be good to eat. He had been some distance away from where Danny dived into the water, but he had heard the splash Danny made. It was different from the splashes made by the young frogs, and the Big Pickerel knew the difference. He would have been very glad to get one of the young frogs. In fact, he could have told what had become of a good many young frogs which had disappeared very mysteriously. But he had paid no attention to the splashes of the young frogs when they had dived into the water at the warning of Reddy Fox the Blackbird. You see, he knew all about frogs, and he knew that they had dived right down to the bottom and hidden in the mud.

But this other splash interested him, and he began to move along in the direction of it. Now if he had hurried in the first place, this story might have had a very different ending. But the Big Pickerel had had a good breakfast, and he was only mildly interested. So he was rather slow. Danny Meadow Mouse was almost across the Smiling Pool before the Big Pickerel saw him. When the Big Pickerel did see him he quite forgot that he had had a good breakfast. It was seldom that he had the chance to dine on a fat meadow mouse, and he could think of nothing in the world that would taste better.

If he had moved slowly before, now he shot forward like an arrow. Grandfather Frog saw him and tried to warn Danny, but Danny was already swimming as fast as he could, and all the warnings in the world couldn't have made him swim any faster. The Big Pickerel's great jaws, each of which had over 50 many sharp teeth, were actually opening to seize Danny, just as Danny's feet touched bottom. Just as Danny scrambled out on the bank, those great jaws closed with a wicked snap, almost on the end of Danny's funny, short tail.

There was a great splash, for the Big Pickerel had rushed in that he had almost stranded himself in the shallow water. For a minute Grandfather Frog couldn't see what had happened. Then he saw the Big Pickerel dart back into deep water, and with a sigh of relief saw Danny Meadow Mouse pop into one of the holes in the bank of the Smiling Pool.

THE SAME COUNTRY

By ROBERT V. FLEMING
Vice President, American Bankers Association

There is a growing appreciation, both on the part of the people and the Government, of the earnest and sincere efforts

R. V. FLEMING

The Greatest Difficulty

I think the greatest difficulty we have to overcome in America today is due to our impatience with the progress we are making towards recovery. We must realize that while the Government can help by directing some measures for relief and recovery, we must help ourselves by doing our share to give impetus to the Government's efforts. We have the same country and basically the same businesses, factories and people we had prior to the depression, and business initiative must step forward if real recovery is to be achieved.

The theory we often hear expressed that banks create business activity is wrong. Banking can only make a supplementary contribution to business activity. Bankers have the facilities and the desire to extend credit, but business must initiate activity by seeking the credit which is readily available to all worthy borrowers.

Let it be said for business, however, that business men are as eager as bankers to contribute towards recovery. I think some of the trouble lies in the fact that too many legislative measures have been proposed for reform which leave an uncertainty in the minds of business leaders as to their eventual outcome and effect. Consequently, they hesitate to expand until the probable effects of such legislation are known.

MAKING IT HARDER FOR BANK ROBBERS

Mechanical Devices That Impede the Work of Bandits Described by Bankers Association Official

The impediments which the hard working bank robber now meets in plying his trade among small as well as large banks are described by James E. Baum, Deputy Manager American Bankers Association in charge of its Protective Department, in an article in "Banking" published by his organization.

"Protective equipment will minimize if not prevent loss," Mr. Baum says, "such as the silent automatic type of alarm, approved tear gas systems, several styles of bandit resisting enclosures and time locks, or safes equipped with time locks, which can be set for intervals of a few minutes."

"The silent automatic alarms operate in the beginning of a holdup and through action carried out by the bank employees in obedience to the bandits' commands. They are adaptable to the smaller banks which continue to be easiest targets for bank robbery."

Tear Gas Systems

"Tear gas systems have their advantages as self-contained protective units where outside aid is inconvenient or too remote from the bank to be effective. One objection to the use of tear gas in preventing holdups is the need of pressing a lever or button to discharge it. Although this necessary action seems too much to expect of the victims in a crisis where their lives are in jeopardy, the fact remains that tear gas systems have defeated bank robbery. Its deterrent value is also important."

"Different styles of bandit resisting enclosures are available. The lock manufacturers also produce time locks which can be set to open at intervals of five minutes or longer. These locks are especially adapted for attachment to small safes or chests for safeguarding surplus funds while the bank is open for business."

Agriculture and Industry

Returns for the first quarter of 1935 for industrial corporations publishing quarterly reports show net profits 21 per cent more than for the same in 1934. The total farm value of all important crops, exclusive of livestock, rose in 1934 to $4,782,423,000, as compared with $4,114,265,000 in the previous year and $2,882,195,000 in 1932.

The newest central bank is that of Canada, which opened after an exhaustive study had been made of the experience of all nations with the result that the stock of the Bank of Canada is privately owned.

Question Box By ED WYNN The Perfect Fool

Dear Mr. Wynn:
My brother is in the regular army and I have decided to enlist in the army also, but do not know what to do. You see the only condition under which I will join the army is that I must be near my brother. How shall I go about joining the army and being close to my brother? He is in the Seventy-fourth regiment.

Truly yours,

D. ZERTER.

Answer: Yours is a difficult problem, but I will help you. First, write to the United States government and tell them you wish to enlist in the army and, as you want to be near your brother, who's in the Seventy-fourth Regiment, you wish to be put in the Seventy-fifth.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

There is a man living across the street from me who is acting queerly. The first day I saw him he was running around his back yard drinking from a medicine bottle. The second day I watched him he was still running and still drinking from the medicine bottle. Now, the third day I looked over I saw him slipping around the yard and still drinking from the same medicine bottle. Can you account for these strange actions?

Yours truly,

V. GATES.

Answer: The man you refer to is evidently a very sick man and his doctor must have told him to take his medicine two days running and then skip a day.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

Can you tell me why it is that Scotland is always full of Americans in the summer?

Sincerely,

C. SICK.

Answer: That merely demonstrates the gratefulness of the American people. The reason Scotland is full of Americans in summer is simply to pay them back for the Americans being full of Scotch in the winter.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

My doctor has advised me to drink lots and lots of water and says that is the only thing for my stomach. Is this true?

Truly yours,

P. NUTZ.

Answer: I do not wish to advise against your doctor, but, if water rots your rubbers, what is it going to do to your stomach? Not for me.

THROUGH A Woman's Eyes By JEAN NEWTON.

"HOME"

"WHAT do you suppose my twelve-year-old boy said to me this evening, as we left?" complained a woman at an evening gathering recently.

"Mother! Are you going out again? Oh gee, you go out every night!"

"He has to go to bed soon after we leave anyway," she added. "Now what do you suppose he wanted?"

Gropingly, this woman had a feeling of guilt, though she knew not why. It developed that what the boy "wanted" was to play ping pong (he is an only child) before going to bed, as he had recently realized his dream of owning a ping-pong table.

But as that woman spoke I thought I could sense something else her boy wanted. It took me back to my own childhood, and I saw myself coming home every afternoon from school. It brought back the feeling of terrible emptiness of those rare times when, returning in the afternoon, I found my mother out.

They were unusual occasions those, but I remember how strangely devastating. At such times, home didn't seem home at all. Of course the habits and traditions of the boy in question were different from those of my own childhood. He was not accustomed to a constant awareness of his mother's presence at home, and therefore did not miss it—consciously, specifically. But I believe, that fundamentally the yearning was the same—a yearning for the background of the living presence that made the home really "home."

Mourning Doves
Mourning doves subsist chiefly on seeds, but bird lovers say that the service they perform is almost equal to that of the insectivorous species. The season for feeding their young comes opportunely, says the Indianapolis News, as they consume great quantities of weed seeds. Such grain as they eat is mostly waste in stubble fields. The United States Department of Agriculture, through its biological survey, has classed the dove as one of the useful birds and while it is shot in the South as a game bird, it is protected in most of the states and Canada.

Marks "D" and "C" on Silver
Some New York silversmiths of the late Eighteenth and early Nineteenth century marked their pieces with the letter "d" or "c," presumably meaning dollar or coin. Early in the Nineteenth century the word "coin" was sometimes stamped on plate. As the use of this word was open to some question, certain states passed laws requiring plate so marked to be 900 parts fine, and that the word "sterling" should indicate silver of 925 parts fine, the English standard. Sterling as a mark of quality appears on American plate from about 1805.

NANNY IS SURE DANNY IS DEAD

THE silvery light of sweet Miss Tress Moon flooded the Green Meadows and chased the Black Shadows clear back to the very edges of the Green Meadows. It was just such a night as a Meadow Mouse loves, and Nanny Meadow Mouse would have enjoyed it and rejoiced in it and been thoroughly happy but for one thing. The truth is, Danny Meadow Mouse had spoiled that beautiful night for Nanny Meadow Mouse. He didn't know he had, but he had. You see, Nanny was worried and her worry, Mice are like other babies in that when their stomachs are full they sleep and grow. So Nanny didn't worry about the babies.

The half-grown children, had romped and played in the moonlight until they had become so tired that they were glad to curl up in their beds. They were dreaming the pleasantest of Meadow Mouse dreams. So Nanny didn't worry about Danny Meadow Mouse. Why didn't he come home? Never since she had known him had Danny been gone so long. Something must have happened to him. She was sure of it.

Had Reddy or Granny Fox caught him? She hadn't seen either of them on the Green Meadows that day, but one of them might have been there long enough to catch Danny without being seen by her. Or perhaps Black Pussy the Cat from Farmer Brown's had surprised Danny. She had seen Redtail the Hawk sailing over the Green Meadows twice during the day and it might be that he had dined on Danny. It was a dreadful thought. She couldn't get rid of it. If something dreadful hadn't happened, Danny never would have stayed away like this.

Nanny tried to be hopeful. She tried to take a nap, for she was very, very, very tired. But she couldn't sleep. She kept creeping out to look along the private little paths she and Danny had made through the grass, hoping each time to see him hurrying home along one of them.

Sweet Mistress Moon climbed higher in the sky, and then began to go lower and lower, and the Black Shadows began once more to creep out across the Green Meadows. Soon jolly, round, red Mr. Sun would come up to chase them away altogether and a new day would begin. Still no Danny. He must be dead. Nanny was sure of it.

He Certainly Must Be Dead; Nanny Was Sure of It.

was all on account of Danny. The newest babies were quite safe in their snug nest, hidden—well, I won't tell you just where it was hidden. That was Danny's and Nanny's secret, so I guess I haven't any right to tell you just where that snug little nest was. If I did they might not trust me again.

Anyway, those newest babies were quite safe, because they were too young to crawl out even if they should waken, which they were not likely to do because their little stomachs were full. Little Meadow

MICHIGAN'S BEAUTIES TOLD BY 3 FLINT CANOEISTS

Why go to California, Colorado or other highly advertised scenic states when a paradise of natural beauty can be found at your back door?

The beauties of northern Michigan are described by Neil Rogers, Flint, Dr. William Braamse, Eastland, and Laurence Lyon, Flint, who recently finished a canoe trip from Grayling to Marquette on the AuSable river.

Leaving Grayling on May 17 with two canoes, camping equipment and provisions, the trio left the busy work-a-day world behind for five days of nature on the AuSable, one of the most beautiful streams in Michigan.

The three report that they saw as many as 50 deer in a single day and that the wooded banks of the river were literally alive with bird life. Fishing was excellent and the travelers returned to Flint singing praises of this Michigan vacation land. They report that the trip by canoe is safe despite common belief that the AuSable is a dangerous stream to navigate.

The party has traveled extensively in the South East and West but claims the beauties of Michigan surpass anything it has seen and is enthusiastic over the possibilities offered in this state for the vacationer who has only a few days of time to spare.

Additional camping sites for canoeists on sight seeing or fishing trips down the Muskegon and AuSable rivers are planned for the coming summer by the forestry division—Department of Conservation.

Located at intervals of several miles, camps on these sites will prove handy and popular stopping places for river voyagers. It is thought.

The favored site on the north branch of the AuSable in Crawford county is approximately 10 miles southeast of Lovell. It is the AuSable camp is established it will be the first one built on that stream.

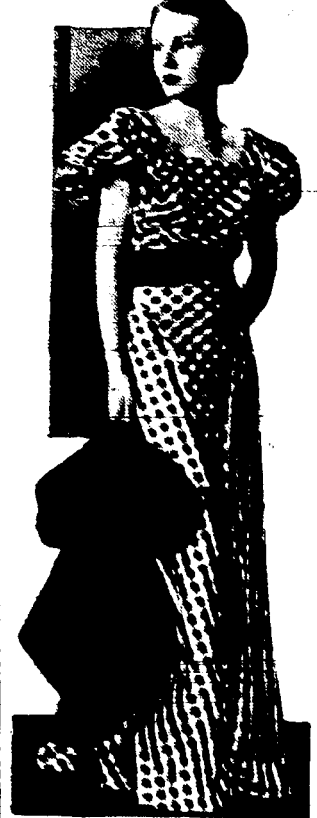

Each camp site will be located on the bank of the stream, will be equipped with tables, benches and sanitary facilities—Flint News Advertiser.
